

[\[1st Naval Hospital during the Great Patriotic War\].](#)

<https://arctichealth.org/en/permalink/ahliterature258696>

Author: O G Chernikov

V S Chernyi

Iu A Mishin

P A Soshkin

Source: Voen Med Zh. 2014 May;335(5):52-9

Date: May-2014

Language: Russian

Publication Type: Article

Keywords: History, 20th Century

Hospitals, Military - history

Humans

Military Medicine - history

Naval Medicine - history

Russia

World War II

Abstract: In the article about The First Naval Hospital, that became famous during the Great Patriotic War, the authors present the facts of the heroic work of the hospital and its staff under the hardest conditions of the Siege of Leningrad, in an atmosphere of constant shelling, its productive clinical and scientific work during the war years (1941-1945). As a material for the preparation of this article were used documents of the Military-Medical Museum, factual information about the history of the hospital published in various sources.

PubMed ID: 25286564 View in PubMed 