

[Excitement indices of different heart region, which have been obtained with magnetocardiography method: age-related peculiarities and accuracy]

<https://arctichealth.org/en/permalink/ahliterature76244>

Source: Lik Sprava. 2006 Jan-Sep;(1-2):27-31

Language: Ukrainian

Publication Type: Article

Abstract: Some deterioration of the homogeneity of atrium and ventricular excitement has been noticed by the authors in practically healthy elderly subjects. Patients with ischemic heart disease had significant differences in above mentioned indices than healthy subjects, with all this the degree of non-homogeneity of atria was greater in patients with atrial fibrillation. A new criterium (delta RT) was proposed to reveal subjects with low possibility of the development of ischemic heart disease.

PubMed ID: 16689089 View in PubMed 